Herky and the Hawkeyes

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the state of Iowa many years ago. The name Hawkeye was originally applied to a hero in a fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Author Cooper had the Delaware Indians bestow the name on a white scout who lived and hunted with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James G. Edwards of Ft. Madison. Edwards, editor of the Ft. Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawk-Eye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name and were rewarded when territorial officials gave it their formal approval.

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herky the Hawk, was hatched. The creator was Richard Spencer III, instructor of journalism. The impish hawk was an immediate hit and he acquired a name through a state-wide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herky.

Since his birth more than 20 years ago, Herky has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s Herky came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot with a black leather head and gold felt feathers. Since then Herky has become a familiar figure at Hawkeye athletic events.

Floyd of Rosedale

A bet in 1935 between Minnesota Governor Floyd B. Olson and Iowa Governor Clyde Herring gave birth to Floyd of Rosedale. Tensions between the two state universities had been running high and a wager was made in an effort to relieve the situation. After Iowa lost the game, Herring presented Olson with Floyd of Rosedale, a full-blooded champion pig and a brother of Blue Boy of Will Rogers' movie, "State Fair." Olson presented the pig to the University of Minnesota and commissioned St. Paul sculptor Charles Brioscho to capture Floyd's image. The result is a bronze pig 21 inches long and 15 inches high. Floyd is currently in residence in Minneapolis, but the Hawkeyes hope to regain possession of the pig this fall when the teams play in Minneapolis.

Iowa Opens Hancher Auditorium

An auditorium with a stage which can accommodate the world's largest performing groups opened this fall at The University of Iowa.

Virgil M. Hancher

Named for the late Virgil M. Hancher, the 2,680-seat auditorium has a stage 70 feet wide, with 50-foot-wide wings on either side for technical crews and waiting performers.

Hancher, who began planning for the new cultural facility as early as 1945, was president of the U. of I. from 1940-1964—the longest tenure of any U. of I. president.

The opening of Hancher Auditorium adds a major facility to the U. of I. Center for the Arts, which now includes the Art Building, the Museum of Art, University Theatre and the Music Building which adjoins the new auditorium.

Performers who will appear during the auditorium's opening season include pianist Van Cliburn, dancer Rudolf Nureyev, the Berlin Concert Choir and Orchestra and pantomimist Marcel Marceau.

Hancher Auditorium will also provide the setting for many appearances of the University's own music, dance and theater groups.

Harrison and Abramovitz, of New York, who also designed Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center and the United Nations headquarters, were the architects for the auditorium.

Stage facilities of the new U. of I. building are as flexible as any in the country. For large groups, the stage is expandable, with the floor of the orchestra pit built on two hydraulic elevators that can be raised to the level of the stage, increasing its size by 992 square feet.

The pit can also be lowered to increase the seating capacity of the auditorium or can be used below floor level for an orchestra. Auditorium seating is on two levels—the main floor and a balcony.

The theatre can be converted to a concert hall by putting into place a special plywood shell to provide a sounding board for orchestras, choirs and guest soloists.

A motor-operated method of handling hanging scenery allows the stage manager to set the motors in advance to raise or lower a piece of scenery to a specified height at a specified rate of speed. He can step up to a large console in the tower above the stage and push buttons to change the stage backdrop from, for example, the train scene in "The Music Man" to the village square scene.

Auditorium lighting, too, provides great flexibility. The stage can be brilliantly lit one moment and in total darkness the next. Operated by computer, lights can fade up for an early morning scene and grow brighter as the sun rises. Or a sunset can be programmed to last 20 minutes.

All these ultramodern facilities will make Hancher Auditorium an ideal showcase for all of the performing arts.

President and Mrs. Enarson

Dr. Harold L. Enarson is the new president of The Ohio State University.

President of Cleveland State University since 1966, he assumed the Ohio State post Sept. 1, succeeding Dr. Novice G. Fawcett, who retired on that date after 16 years as the university's chief executive.

Dr. Enarson's appointment by Ohio State's Board of Trustees came on April 7, 1972, after a 10-month search by a 17-member consultative committee representing faculty, staff, students and alumni.

As Ohio State's ninth president, Dr. Enarson heads one of the nation's largest comprehensive universities and Ohio's principal center for graduate and professional education.

Born May 24, 1919, on a farm near Villisca, Iowa, he is a 1940 graduate of the University of New Mexico. His master of arts degree from Stanford University (1946) and Ph.D. from American University (1951) are in political science.

Dr. Enarson's professional interests have been principally in four fields—labor relations, the health sciences, international education and higher education.

For more than a decade beginning in the 1940's he worked in labor relations, particularly in the handling of national emergency labor disputes. He was a budget examiner in the U. S. Bureau of the Budget in 1942-43 and again from 1946-49 after three years in the infantry during World War II.

At the time of the Korean War, he left an assistant professorship at Stanford University to take a summer assignment in 1950 as consultant on labor problems to the National Security Resources Board. This led later to a White House post as special assistant to John R. Steelman on labor policy and wage stabilization. On leave from the White House in 1952, Dr. Enarson became assistant to the chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board, then received a presidential appointment as public member of the WSB, serving from August, 1952, to February, 1953. In 1960 he was a consultant to the U. S. Department of Labor on the study of labor relations in the steel industry.

In the area of international education, Dr. Enarson served as consultant to The Ford Foundation for projects concerning utilization of college teaching resources, 1957-58; university education in Central America, 1961-63, and higher education in the United Arab Republic, 1960. Also for The Ford Foundation, he was project director in 1964-65 of a program of internships in Latin American education.

Dr. Enarson began his career in higher education as a teacher of political science at Stanford in 1940-41. He taught there also in 1949-50 and at Whittier College in 1949. After serving as assistant director of commerce for the City of Philadelphia in 1953-54 and as executive secretary to the Philadelphia mayor in 1954, he became executive director of the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, Boulder, Colo. He directed the 13-state regional education compact from 1954-60. Both the membership and program of the commission expanded greatly during that period.

He returned to his alma mater, the University of New Mexico, as administrative vice president in 1960 and became academic vice president the following year, serving until he came to Cleveland State as its first president.

Dr. Enarson's civic activities in Cleveland included service on the council of World Affairs, Board of the Greater Cleveland Growth Association, Mayor's Council on Youth Opportunity, Mayor's Committee on Community Resources, Rotary Club, Commission on Health and Social Services, Greater Cleveland United, Educational Television Association of Metropolitan Cleveland, Federation for Community Planning, and other organizations.

President Enarson and his wife, Audrey, have three daughters. They are Mrs. Merlyn E. Prentice, Norrkoping, Sweden; Mrs. Elaine E. Hering, Santa Cruz, Calif., and Miss Lisa P. Enarson, Longmont, Colo.

Honorary Doctors of Athletic Arts

Jack Nicklaus

Jesse Owens first astounded track enthusiasts at an Ohio State-University of Michigan meet in 1935 by setting three world records and tying another within an hour. The next year, he won four gold medals for the U.S. in the Olympics and set two more records in the 200-meter dash and broad jump. He also tied a third in the 100 meters. Owens attended Ohio State University from 1934-36.

Owens spent the next few years in public relations work for the Ford Motor Co. and heading his own dance band. At this time, he began working with various youth groups, an interest he still holds. In 1942, he was appointed director of physical fitness for his race in the Office of Civil Defense and in 1955 was named to the Illinois Youth Commission.

The Associated Press mid-century sports poll recognized Owens as the greatest track athlete since 1900. In 1950, Ohio State established a $5,000 scholarship fund in his honor. That same year, he was named to the 50-year All Star Big Ten Track and Field Squad. He returned to Ohio State in 1960 to present his daughter, Marlene, with the Homecoming Queen trophy.

Two of Owens' Varsity O records, both made in 1935, still stand. They are the 70 yard low hurdles in :07.6 seconds and the long jump of 25 feet, 9 inches. Owens' world long jump mark of 26 ft., 8¼ inches stood for 25 years, the oldest mark in the record book to fall. It was broken in 1960 by Ralph Boston's 26-11.

A native of Upper Arlington, Jack Nicklaus attended Ohio State University from 1957 to 1962, leaving to play on the golf circuit. He won the U.S. Amateur championship in 1959 and 1961, the U.S. Open in 1962, 1967, and 1972 and the British Open in 1966. Nicklaus clinched the PGA tournament in 1963 and 1971 and the Masters title four times: in 1963, 1965, 1966, and 1972.

In 1967, Nicklaus was named PGA Player of the Year and recognized as the Golfer of the Year by the Academy of Professional Sports in 1968. He is the author of three books: "My 55 Ways to Lower Your Golf Score," "Take a Tip from Me," and "The Greatest Game of All."

A member of The President's Club of Ohio State, he is currently serving as national chairman of fund-raising for the future University Activities Center at Ohio State. In 1967, he was chairman of the Ohio division of the American Cancer Society and the sports division of the National Easter Seal Society.

As an undergraduate, Nicklaus won the Big Ten championship in 1961 with a score of 283 on the Indiana course. He also led the team to the conference crown the same year with a score of 1527.

Jack Nicklaus and Jesse Owens were presented honorary degrees of Doctors of Athletic Arts at the summer commencement Sept. 1. Owens was unable to be present due to his appearance at the Olympic Games.

Distinguished Teachers Receive Alumni Awards

Alumni awards for distinguished teaching have been presented to eight members of the Ohio State University faculty. The project, in effect for the past 13 years, is to "recognize and give evidence of the importance placed on superior teaching and to provide encouragement and incentive for teaching achievement."

Recipients for 1972 were:

— Dr. Barbara N. Armstrong, assistant professor of home economics. She joined the faculty in 1968 and holds two degrees from West Virginia University.

— Dr. Pierre Astier, professor of romance languages. A native of France, he received one bachelor's degree from Faculte de Droit et de Lettres in Paris and other from Amherst College. He also holds two degrees from Brown University.

— Dr. Robert L. Chazan, associate professor of history. With degrees from Columbia College and Jewish Theological Seminary of America, Dr. Chazan joined the faculty in 1967 and holds the Samuel and Esther Melton Chair of Jewish History and Studies.

— Dr. Charlotte S. Huck, professor of education. Dr. Huck joined the faculty after receiving three degrees from Ohio State: Her bachelor of science degree in 1944, master of arts in 1951 and doctorate in 1955.

— Dr. Marlin L. Languis, professor of education. He has been teaching at Ohio State since 1964, joining the faculty after receiving two degrees from the University of Nebraska and his doctorate from Pennsylvania State University.

— Dr. William B. Shook, associate professor of engineering. He joined the faculty in 1953 after graduating from Ohio State.

— Dr. Grayce M. Sills, associate professor of nursing, has been a member of the faculty since 1968. She received her undergraduate degree from the University of Dayton.

— Dr. J. Robert Warmbrod, professor of agricultural education. Dr. Warmbrod received two degrees from the University of Tennessee and a doctorate from the University of Illinois, then joined the Ohio State faculty in 1968.

■ In celebration of Ohio Stadium's golden anniversary, the official alumni organization — The Ohio State University Association — invited a distinguished alumnus to create a special commemorative page for this season's football programs.

■ "My Stadium" (on the opposite page) is the affectionate accomplishment of Milton Caniff, BA '30 and is typical of his loyal interest in the affairs of Alma Mater.

■ Milton Caniff, whose "Steve Canyon" adventure strip is read by millions, received the Reuben Award, highest award of the National Cartoonists Society, in the spring of 1972.

■ Some of his works are on display in Alumni House in the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, on Olentangy River Road, just across the river and north of the stadium. Stop by after the game.

■ Ohio Stadium, built through private donations by some 13,000 alumni and friends, was completed in 1922 — after only 13 months of work powered mostly by horses and steam engines. A series of Ralph Fanning watercolors depicting the stadium construction is also on display in Alumni House. Drop by.

■ Alumni House is campus headquarters for the University's graduates and former students. It houses the official alumni organization, The Ohio State University Association, which is the second largest dues-paying alumni association in the nation and the largest such organization in the Big Ten.

■ Please accept "My Stadium" as a souvenir of the horseshoe's 50th birthday and please accept our invitation to learn more about membership in The Ohio State University Association. Stop by Alumni House, while traffic clears, on your way home. We'll even provide a cup of coffee!

Building an organization is much like building a football team. You secure key personnel and use good coaching and concentrate on the fundamentals of the game, progress will appear and championship form can be attained.

Here, in our agency, we have key personnel who have done a great job of recruiting quality people. Pictured on this page are some of the key personnel who do an excellent job of coaching and guiding our trainees into becoming successful, established career life underwriters. An opportunity with the Equitable can offer you lifetime security, unprecedented freedom and much responsibility. If you are a person who has a competitive background, has been serious about success and truly desires an opportunity—not a job—why not call Warren A. Wandling or one of the other agency coaches of the Wandling Agency.

Scholar-Athletes Represent 15 Sports

Ohio State University's scholar-athletes pose in front of the Faculty club to receive recognition from the Athletic Council for their excellence in the classroom and athletics.

SEVENTY-SIX Ohio State University athletes, representing 15 sports, attained a 3-point or better scholastic average during the school year.

Members of the baseball squad led the team representatives with 14, followed by the swimming team with 10 and track and football with eight each. Hockey, volleyball and soccer had four each and all other sports had one to three.

Two freshmen, now sophomores, Kim Nicola of the track team and Pat Moore of the swimming team, had perfect 4.0 averages to lead the scholar-athletes. Others with high averages included: Scott Merryman, swimming, 3.848; Tom Wornoff, rifle, 3.800; Gary Grammage, gymnastics, 3.736;

Dave Hoyles, Hockey, 3.743; and William Young, wrestling, 3.720.

Certificates are issued to first-year honorees, bronze medals to second-year winners, silver medals to third-year honorees and gold medals to fourth-year recipients.

Four-year winners have been Gregory Good (golf); Rick Simon (football); John Hammond and John Hermack (track) and William Catt and Steven Skilken (swimming).

An offensive tackle, Simon won the Big Ten medal this year for combined proficiency in studies and athletics. He was named to the first all-American scholastic team by sports information director.

A LOT OF LITTLE CARS HAVE TWO DOORS. THIS ONE HAS TWO ROOFS.

Vega is a little more car than a lot of little cars.

The roof, for instance, is constructed of not one but two separate steel panels, one under the other, to add strength and quiet to the car.

And although, like we said, a lot of little cars have two doors — very few of them have steel guard beams built into them, like the Vega doors do.

Vega gives you more engine than most little cars: A 140-cubic-inch overhead cam four that can handle turnpike speeds quite comfortably without a lot of straining.

And where some little cars let you feel every little bump, Vega has big coil springs at all four wheels to help take the harshness out of the ride.

The point of this ad is quite simple. We're just telling you that our Vega, although not a big car, is certainly a lot of car.

From road to roofs.

Chevrolet. Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

Highway safety begins at home. Buckle up before you leave.

OHIO STATERS INC. PRESENTS . . . for the 2nd year!

THE BUCKEYE BLAZER

Show the colors of the Ohio State Buckeyes this fall in the new scarlet or gray blazers by Wynn. Sporting an OSU crest on the pocket, your Buckeye Blazer is created from fine fabrics and is designed for year around wear. The blazer is styled in the popular three button look with a deep center vent. Also this year we have 100% Polyester Double Knit Blazers — greater comfort — wear and wrinkle resistant — with today's look. This is an Ohio Stater project and all profits go to the OSU Athletic Scholarship Fund. Our first year, your response enabled us to provide the Fund with $1600. CLIP AND MAIL TODAY.

One call covers it all

One call to the man from Nationwide covers all your insurance needs.

1. Life Insurance:

Nationwide offers complete life insurance protection for you, your wife, your children, even your employees.

2. Health Insurance:

Hospital bills, medicine bills, missed paychecks . . . Nationwide has health insurance plans designed to cover these and more.

3. Auto Insurance:

Just ask the man from Nationwide about multi-car and safe driving discounts, liability, collision coverage and much more.

4. Homeowner's Insurance:

Your home deserves the best, most complete protection available. Nationwide protects against theft, fire, wind damage, liability claims and much more.

5. Business Insurance:

One comprehensive Nationwide plan means professional insurance protection. It means you know exactly what you're covered for. It means proper and complete business insurance protection through one plan, by one agent with one organization.

Nationwide

Nationwide Insurance. The man from Nationwide is on your side. ®

SOME OFFICE JOBS ARE MORE INTERESTING THAN OTHERS

In the old days if a man wanted to be an executive and craved adventure too, he could skipper a clipper ship.

Today...the clippers are gone...but the supersonics are here. And swashbuckling executives still get their chance.

That's maybe a million bucks worth of plane. And when you fly it the responsibility's all yours.

If you'd like to mull that over every time you bank or roll at 1,400+ mph, try for Officer Training School after you graduate from college. After completion of this school you will attend pilot training and have a starting salary of more than $9,400 annually. Also, remember the nice idea of yourself, an Air Force pilot, captain of all you command, getting to visit foreign ports like the clipper captain of yore.

An Air Force officer's life is a great life!

Why just be skipper of a desk?

For complete information contact your local Air Force representative.
